

END ARGUMENTS ON PROHIBITION

Charges that Evidence Was Being Manufactured by Prohibitionists are Made

MARYLAND NOW READY

Sale of 3 1/2 Per Cent. Beer in Case Volstead Law Is Found Invalid, Favored

Washington, March 30. — Arguments on the constitutionality of the prohibition amendment and portions of the enforcement law were concluded today in the supreme court. Seven separate proceedings now rest with the court for determination.

The arguments today were on appeal brought by Christian Feigenbaum, of Newark, N. J., from federal court decrees dismissing injunction proceedings to enjoin prohibition officials from preventing him from manufacturing beer containing more than one-half of one per cent of alcohol and on government appeals from judgments restraining officials from interfering with the Manitowoc Products company, a Wisconsin concern, in the manufacture of beer containing 2.5 per cent of alcohol by volume.

William D. Guthrie, appearing in the former case, contended that by the words "concurrent power to enforce" congress intended for the federal government and the state to enforce prohibition with identical legislation and that the states were to give their approval to enforcement legislation before becoming effective.

"We submit that the state legislatures must have understood the amendment provided for concurrent enforcement as the amendment states," Mr. Guthrie says. "The construction now urged by the government would result in practically the complete loss of state control. If this point were between individuals, we might well call it a point of fair conduct and morality."

Veiled charges that evidence was being "manufactured" by prohibition supporters to influence the courts in connection with its consideration of the prohibition question were made by Mr. Guthrie. He called attention to an "extension of remarks" by Representative Volstead, author of the enforcement act appearing in the congressional record last week, giving what was in the minds of members of the house judiciary committee in 1917, while framing the prohibition amendment.

Annapolis, Md., March 30. — By a vote of 61 to 33, the bill permitting the sale of 3 1/2 percent beer if the Volstead bill is declared to be invalid, passed the house tonight and now goes to the senate.

FRANK H. PLATT DIES AFTER LONG ILLNESS

Son of Late Thomas C. Platt, Born in 1856 Graduated from Yale in 1877

New York, March 30. — Frank H. Platt, second son of the late Thomas C. Platt, United States senator in the administration of Presidents Garfield and McKinley, died at the home here after a long illness. He was born in Oswego, N. Y., May 16, 1856. Mr. Platt was engaged in the practice of law for a number of years, was at one time assistant federal district attorney for the southern New York district.

Mr. Platt had been ill for several years with disease of the heart. He was closely associated with his father, while the latter was president of the United States Express company but he never became actively identified with politics. Mr. Platt was essentially a corporation lawyer, having been counsel at various times to the Reading, Lehigh Valley and other eastern railroads.

Mr. Platt was graduated by Yale university in 1877 and for three years was president of the Yale club of this city. He is survived by his widow, Mrs. Carrie Livingston Platt, formerly of Fulton, N. Y., and his son, Livingston Platt.

JAMESTOWN REPUBLICANS WIN

Jamestown, March 29. — The whole Republican ticket was successful at today's election, except one candidate for alderman. Mayor Samuel A. Carlson was re-elected for a seventh term by 1,875 plurality over T. N. Nelson, Democrat. One Socialist alderman, George Peterson, was elected. The town council will consist for the next two years of 11 Republicans and 7 Socialists, the same as at present.

REFLECTS VOTE OF CONFIDENCE

Berlin, March 3. — The national assembly today rejected the vote of lack of confidence in the government and then adopted, over the vote of German nationalists and Independent Socialists, a motion approving the government's statement.

London, March 30. — Allied powers have accepted Holland's last note regarding the former German emperor, according to an Amsterdam dispatch to the Daily Mail.

MAYO IN COLLISION WITH SIMS CHARGES

Active Fleet Was Never Better Prepared than at War's Beginning Admiral Says

Washington, March 30. — Faulty organization in the navy department and "absence of a definite foreign policy, except that of strict neutrality" were the reasons for the war, declared today before the senate naval investigating committee. The active fleet itself, however, was never better prepared, he said, than when war was declared.

Admiral Mayo, who was Rear Admiral Sims' immediate superior, technically at least, during the war, took issue with some of the statements made by that officer in his indictment of the department's conduct of the war. To the charge that no adequate plan for co-operation with allied navies had been made in advance, he answered that the office of chief of operations had been created only in 1915 and was not comprehensive enough to secure the best possible results; but that without it conditions would have been "chaotic."

The navy was as well prepared for war in 1917 as were the British, French and Italian navies in 1914, Admiral Mayo asserted, adding that it would have been better prepared had the operations bureau been created sooner.

Washington, March 30. — Rear Admiral William B. Fletcher concluded today a five days' defense of the fleet's operations during the war under his command and his flag lieutenant, Joseph A. Carey, reserve force, took his place on the stand before the naval court investigating Vice Admiral Sims' action in October, 1917, in removing Admiral Fletcher after the torpedoing of the transport Anulles.

Under cross-examination by his own counsel, permitted over the objection of counsel for Admiral Sims, Admiral Fletcher said the Anulles and two other ships were left to the protection of only two escorts, Kananha, was driven back to port by rough weather, the right before the transport was sunk. He also answered questions by his counsel designed to compare his administration of the fleet command with that of his successor, Vice Admiral Henry B. Wilson.

Lieutenant Carey, who also served later as flag lieutenant to Admiral Wilson, was asked how the operating orders of the two commanders compared.

"They were substantially the same," he said.

Admiral Sims sought to explain personally the "irrelevancy" of these comparisons, but was overruled by the court.

Counsel for Captain Thomas P. MacGruder, Admiral Fletcher's chief of staff at Brest, and who has been made a party in interest in the proceedings, drew from Admiral Fletcher a modification of previous charges that MacGruder had not rendered loyal support. MacGruder's attitude, Admiral Fletcher said, underwent a "change for the better," after he had been at Brest a little while and mastered his disinclination to shore duty.

AND NOW JACK JOHNSON AGAIN

Big Negro Pugilist Across Border Says He Will Get Square With Authorities

Calexico, California, March 30. — Jack Johnson, former heavyweight champion, arrived at Calexico, adjoining Calexico, but across the international line in Mexico, today. Johnson was accompanied by his wife, his nephew, and his wife's maid. He came from Mexico City and was carrying a passport purporting to have been issued by the United States embassy at Mexico City.

Johnson began negotiations today for a fight at Calexico in the near future. He also signed an agreement to give an exhibition boxing match at Calexico next Sunday. Johnson said he expected to return to the United States and get squared with the federal authorities soon. He said he then would take up his former occupation of boxing and sign a theatrical tour.

POSTAL AVIATOR KILLED

Newark, N. J., March 30. — George Sherlock of Orange, N. J., flying a postoffice department mail plane, was instantly killed here this afternoon while trying to land on Heller field after completing a trip from Washington.

The plane, a Martin bombing machine, struck a chimney and crashed to the ground.

DAYLIGHT REPEAL VOTE AGAIN LOST

Fowler Bill Providing for Local Option, Lost in Assembly by Vote of 75 to 64

SECOND TIME IN WEEK

Resort to Court's Opinion on Constitutionality of Law May be Sought

Albany March 30. — By a vote of 75 to 64—one less than the constitutional majority—the Fowler bill, which was designed to repeal the daylight saving law failed of passage in the assembly late today. The bill provided for local option by municipalities. It was the second time within a week that a measure providing for the repeal of the present law was lost in the lower house.

Assemblyman Charles H. Betts, Republican of Wayne, who fathered the Fowler bill, a senate measure which passed the upper house last night by a bare majority, would not say after today's vote was announced whether he would make another effort to put through either his bill or the Fowler measure. He did move, however, to reconsider the vote by which the Fowler bill was lost and have it laid on the table.

"Both bills are still alive," said Assemblyman Betts. "I can't say, however, whether we will push either one at this session."

He intimated that court action might be taken to have the New York state daylight saving law declared unconstitutional. "It is unconstitutional in my opinion," he asserted.

Virtually the solid Democratic minority voted with Republican members of New York state and some of the larger up-state cities against the bill today. The call for absentees and a detailed vote consumed nearly an hour.

At one time the bill had the constitutional majority of 76 votes. This was when Assemblymen George H. Rowe of Buffalo and William W. Pell of New York, both Republicans, who on the first roll call voted in the negative, requested that they be recorded in the affirmative. Immediately after their request had been made known, Assemblyman William S. Evans, Democrat, of the Bronx, who had consistently voted for the repeal of the law, asked that his vote be changed from the affirmative to the negative, adding that he presented the bargaining and dealings going on over this bill in this chamber."

Senator Fowler declared the repeal of the daylight saving law was necessary in order to avoid confusion resulting from the use of two different times and because, he declared, the daylight saving law caused a decrease in production of foodstuffs on the farms. The latter assertion was denied by Democratic senators. Senator Kaplan said that if the production had decreased last year it was because of the shortage of labor rather than anything else. Senator Sage said that personally he liked the daylight saving law, but he doubted the right of the legislature to enact such laws except in the emergency of wartime.

COAL PRICES WILL ADVANCE

Action of Coal Commission Will Result on Public According to Operator's Plan

New York, March 30. — The action of President Wilson's coal committee in granting bituminous mine workers a wage increase of 27 percent means the price of coal at the mines will advance 65 cents to $12.5 a ton, bituminous coal operators announced here today.

Since the removal of bituminous coal price restriction by the President, some operators already have sold large quantities of coal for April delivery at from $3.50 to $4 a ton, it was stated. The government price of $2.95 is effective, however, to April 1.

The mine workers' representative refused to make any comment on the proposed increase in coal prices except that the new management would only involve "25 percent a ton average increased expense."

QUESTION ICE ADVANCE

New York, March 30. — Investigation into the price of ice from 50 to 60 cents a hundred pounds announced yesterday by one of the largest distributors here is provided for in a resolution passed today by the board of aldermen. Alderman McManus, author of the resolution, pointed out that the largest crop of ice ever harvested in the Hudson river and nearby lakes is now stored in this city.

HARDIE TRAFFIC DIRECTOR

Washington, March 30. — W. V. Hardie of Oklahoma City was appointed today by the Interstate Commerce commission as director of traffic, a post created by the commission because of the increased duties under the transportation act.

ELECT LORD MAYOR

Cork, Ireland, March 30. — At a special meeting of the Cork corporation tonight, Alderman Terence MacSwiney was elected lord mayor. He is a Sinn Fein leader and several times has been deported or imprisoned.

Mary Pickford Married To Douglas Fairbanks Sunday

Los Angeles, March 30. — Mary Pickford and Douglas Fairbanks have been married, it became known here late today. They obtained a license here last Saturday and the ceremony was performed Sunday by the Rev. J. Whitcomb Brougher, pastor of the Temple Baptist church.

HOME RULE QUESTION CAUSES BATTLE ROYAL

Particular Interest Centers in Contest Between Asquith and Lloyd George

London, March 30. — Herbert H. Asquith, former premier, took issue in the house of commons today on the home rule question with Premier Lloyd George, whose plan for two parliaments for Ireland, Mr. Asquith characterized as absolutely unacceptable.

Particular interest is centered in the contest between the premier and former premier, both of whom aspire to the leadership of the liberal party, but as yet they have not come to grips.

The fact that agitation is so widespread in Ireland at the present time lends added interest to the ultimate outcome of the bill now before the house, but the real fight will not be until the committee stage is reached.

Mr. Asquith spoke today against the bill, but contrary to expectations, Mr. Lloyd George deferred his remarks until tomorrow. For the moment uncertainty seemed to surround the debate and today's proceedings failed to arouse much excitement. The arguments take two principal directions: from the opponents of the bill; that it is useless to press the measure as it is certain to be contemptuously rejected by the Irish people; and from the supporters of the bill, that to grant self determination under existing conditions would be equivalent to consenting to the proclamation of an Irish republic which no sane government could permit.

After the principal speakers, Mr. Asquith and Andrew Bonar Law, the debate was confined to minor matters.

The hope that Sir Edward Carson, the Ulster unionist leader, would speak was not fulfilled. The holiday spirit seemed to pervade the house, which gradually emptied and the debate was adjourned at 11 o'clock at night.

Sir Donald MacLean will resume the debate tomorrow, with Premier Lloyd George and William Adamson, labor leader, as the chief speakers. There may be a division, to enable adjournment for Easter.

'GUILTY' IS VERDICT IN SOCIALISTS' CASE

Indications are That Assembly Will Uphold to Letter Majority's Decision

Albany, March 30. — "Guilty" was the verdict rendered in the assembly today by a majority of the judiciary committee in the case of the five socialist members suspended on the opening day of the 1920 legislative session on charges of disloyalty.

Indications were overwhelming tonight that the decision of the majority of the committee would be upheld by the assembly as a whole and that the recommendations in the majority report that the socialists' seats be declared vacant would be adopted. The size of the majority favoring the proposition was the only disputed subject tonight. It was reported that at least 90 votes, and, possibly, more than 100, would be cast for the expulsion of the socialists.

Majority Leader Simon L. Adler of Monroe and Lieutenant Colonel Roosevelt of Nassau let it be known today that they would oppose the unseating of the socialists' assemblymen.

Action on the committee's report was made a special order for tomorrow. It is expected that the entire day will be given over to oratory and argument and so many members will want to be heard that a vote cannot be reached before Thursday. It is known that the leaders of the expulsion faction favor deferring a vote until Thursday, in as much as under the law the governor cannot call a special election to fill a vacancy occurring in the legislature after the last day of March unless an extraordinary session of the legislature is to be convened. If the seats of the socialists should be declared vacant tomorrow, the governor would be free to exercise his prerogative of calling a special election in each of the five districts that elected a socialist assemblyman last November.

WOMEN THREATEN STRIKE

Albany, March 30. — Warning that the Republican women members of the New York State League of Women Voters will go on "strike" on election day or "go into other parties" if the state legislature does not act favorably on the "welfare bills" was contained in a letter sent by the league to William H. Hays, chairman of the Republican National committee.

ABSOLVE SMITH OF TAKING BRIBE

Accused Assistant District Attorney Wins First Legal Clash in Vice Crusade

IS GIVEN CLEAN BILL

Prosecution of Alleged Police Department Irregularities Will Proceed Immediately

New York, March 30. — A victory in the first legal clash in New York's vice war, now the subject of inquiry by two grand juries, tonight rested with Assistant District Attorney James E. Smith, who was exonerated today by the extraordinary grand jury of "a common report" that he had for $20,000 quashed an indictment against a gambler.

Charges that he had sought protection of vice resorts, made in six affidavits filed by Police Inspector Dominic Henry with Police Commissioner Richard E. Enright, were not mentioned in the grand jury's report. While the regular grand jury tonight constitutes consideration of charges of police corruption presented by Mr. Smith, Inspector Henry's allegation against the assistant district attorney will be investigated by the extraordinary grand jury.

New York, March 30. — The extraordinary grand jury investigating the conduct of three assistant district attorneys filed a presentation in the supreme court late this afternoon exonerating Assistant District Attorney J. E. Smith of charges of alleged bribery contained in a letter found in Mayor Hylan's files. The grand jury reported that the charge of which Assistant District Attorney Smith was exonerated originated in a letter sent by Mayor Hylan to Police Commissioner Enright March 12, 1919. The letter said in part:

"There seems to be a common report around town that Rothstein, the gambler, gave $20,000 to a lawyer who was formerly a magistrate which, so the report says, was divided up equally between an assistant district attorney and a magistrate. However, the case against Rothstein was dismissed."

"Testimony taken by us," the presentation said, "has clearly identified the case referred to as that of Arnold Rothstein arraigned on a charge of felonious assault on January 23, 1919, in the seventh district magistrate's court and is charged by the presiding magistrate January 28, 1919. The other persons referred to are Emil Fuchs, formerly a city magistrate, James F. Smith, an assistant district attorney, and Francis X. McQuade, a city magistrate."

"In the investigation of this charge," the grand jury added, "we have exhausted all sources of information available to us and we have not found that" the common report described in the above extract from the mayor's letter has any foundation whatever in fact.

This presentation exonerating Mr. Smith of the only charge officially against him before the extraordinary grand jury, it was explained, gives him a "clean bill of health" and will permit him to proceed immediately before the regular grand jury with his investigation of alleged police department irregularities.

ABSOLVE HIGH PRICES FOR PRESENT UNREST

Dr. Porter in Venturing Solution Hints at "A Power Hidden and Unseen"

Syracuse, March 30. — Dr. Eugene H. Porter, commissioner of farms and markets, told a conference of producers and consumers here today that "present day unrest does not exist because of the high cost of living."

What people are trying to find out, he said, is why they appear to be at the mercy of a power beyond their reach. "They feel," he said, "they are subject to a power hidden and unseen and they don't propose to put up with it much longer."

Dr. Porter thus explained one of the causes for prevailing high prices: "The producers and manufacturer estimate the amount he will be called upon by the government to pay in a profit tax. He adds that amount to the price he charges for his manufactured article or product."

"The ultimate consumer pays the manufacturer's price, at the same time paying what the government calls the manufacturer's profit tax, the consumer settling for everything, the manufacturer nothing."

DEATH LIST UNCHANGED

Indianapolis, Ind., March 30. — No additional deaths as the result of Sunday's tornado have been reported from northern Indiana since early today and tonight the total for the state remained at 37. Telegraph and telephone service in the storm swept district was practically normal again and plans for reconstructing demolished towns in the tornado's path were taking form today. Property damage in the state will amount to several million dollars.

HOOVER WILL ENTER PRESIDENTIAL RACE

Commissioner Stipulates Ideals He Will Support if Adopted by Republican Party

AN INSULT IS ALLEGED

Pending Charges of Contempt and Attack on Gillette Form Basis of the Denial

San Francisco, March 30. — Herbert Hoover today telegraphed the Hoover Republican club of California that he would accept the Republican nomination for president "if it is felt that the issues necessitate it and it is demanded of me."

Mr. Hoover said: "If the Republican party—with the independent element of which I am naturally affiliated—adopts a forward looking, liberal, constructive platform on the treaty and on our economic issues and if the party proposes measures for sound business administration of the country and is neither reactionary nor radical in its approach to our great domestic questions and is backed by men who undoubtedly assure the consummation of these policies and measures. I will give it my entire support."

"I do not and will not myself seek the nomination."

Mr. Hoover aligned himself with those favoring the United States' entry into the league of nations with reservations, safeguarding America's traditions and interests and declared he differed just as strongly with "the extreme view advocated against any league at all" as he did with "the extreme position taken by the President on participation in purely European affairs."

He declared he had refrained hitherto from entering into partisan political discussion pending clarification of diverging views on the great new issues but that recent developments in the treaty situation, "stagnation in economic adjustments," and urgent representations regarding the situation in California, had impelled him to "confirm the action that Republican friends there have already taken without consulting me."

MAY REPORT MARTENS RUSSIAN SOVIET AGENT

Allegiance to Communist Party and Fact Minister Is German Subject Are Also Alleged

Washington, March 30. — Ludwig C. A. K. Martens, Russian Soviet agent in the United States, is a German subject and should be deported to Germany, according to contentions of the department of justice in a brief to be submitted to immigration authorities tomorrow.

The government's case against Martens, made public by Assistant Attorney General Garvan, tonight claimed to establish "conclusively" his connection with the Russian Communists, and his activity in the promotion of an organization shown to seek the overthrow of the United States government by force.

While it remains for the bureau of immigration to dispose of the case, officials declared tonight that despite Martens' credentials they would attempt to have him sent back to Germany, from which his parents emigrated to Russia and where Martens twice was refused citizenship papers.

DELAWARE WOMEN VIE FOR SUFFRAGE HONORS

Favorable Action on Amendment by Mississippi's Upper House Spurs the Movement

Dover, Del., March 30. — News of the ratification of the proposed constitutional woman's suffrage amendment by the upper branch of the Mississippi legislature aroused intense interest here today and stirred the suffrage workers to greater efforts to obtain ratification by the Delaware assembly. The legislators were urged not to let the southern states beat them out in the race that suddenly developed between the two states.

"Don't let Delaware be robbed of the honor of giving the final vote necessary to make the amendment a federal law," pleaded Mrs. Henry Ridgeley Jr., president of the Delaware Equal Suffrage association.

The opponents of ratification were no less active and when the legislature adjourned for the day, the situation was described by leaders of both sides as virtually unchanged.

Jackson, Miss., March 30. — Following ratification of the federal suffrage amendment by the Mississippi senate today, supporters of the measure began telephoning and telegraphing absentee members of the house to return immediately in preparation for the fight there.

Action by the senate came as a complete surprise in view of the adverse vote previously taken.

LEGION DEMANDS BONUS

New York, March 30. — Following a stormy session which lasted until late last night, the New York county committee of the American legion was on record today in favor of demanding a bonus for all soldiers from congress.

Major Brokaw Compton, chairman of the committee, who opposed the bonus plan, resigned following the meeting.

ANDERSON DENIED CHANCE TO SPEAK

Heated Discussion Over Rights of Anti Saloon League President Follows

PENDING CHARGES OF CONTEMPT

Albany, March 30. — William H. Anderson, state superintendent of the Anti-Saloon league, was refused the privilege of addressing a joint legislative committee at a hearing late today on several bills designed to permit the manufacture and sale of light beers and wines. Assemblyman Martin McCue, Democrat, of New York, who protested against Mr. Anderson's speaking, claimed that as he had been ordered to appear before the judiciary committee to answer to alleged contempt of the assembly, it would be an insult to allow him to be heard.

The senate judiciary and the assembly excise committees, before which the hearing was held, voted 10 to 6 against the ruling by the chair, that Mr. Anderson had a right to be heard.

Those voting to allow Mr. Anderson to speak were: Senators Burlingame, Republican, of Kings; Assemblyman Richmond, Republican, of Chemung; Hager, Republican, of Cayuga; Williams, Republican, of Oneida; Long, Republican, of Delaware; and Gage, Republican, of Wyoming.

Assemblyman McCue Objects.

Opposed to the chairman's ruling were: Senators Dowling, Democrat, of Kings; Marshall, Republican, of Franklin; Coumo, Democrat, of Kings; and Walker, Democrat, of Kings; and Assemblymen Stebbins, Republican, of Erie; Carroll, Democrat, of Suffolk; Reilly, Democrat, of Kings; Ames, Republican, of Chautauque; Paurzykowsky, Republican, of Erie; and McCue, Democrat, of New York.

When Assemblyman Gage, who had taken the chair temporarily in the absence of Senator Burlingame, jr., of Kings, who had been called from the room, announced that the next speaker would be Mr. Anderson, Assemblyman McCue, a member of the assembly excise committee, sprang to his feet.

"I object to permitting Mr. Anderson to speak here today," he declared. "He has been cited to appear before a committee to answer to the charges of contempt for insulting remarks about this soldier hero," pointing to Colonel Ransom H. Gillette, author of one of the bills being considered. Loud cheers from the side of the assembly chamber where the "wet" forces had gathered, greeted Mr. McCue's remarks.

Chairman Gage contended that Mr. Anderson would have to be granted the same privilege that any one else would have whose name had been handed to the committee as a speaker.

"Until Mr. Anderson has proved his right to appear before the assembly, he has no right to speak here," Mr. McCue contended. "I appeal from the chair's ruling."

"Mr. Chairman," shouted Mr. Anderson.

House in Uproar.

Cries of "throw him out" and "make him sit down" filled the large room as excited men and women arose from their seats.

Assemblyman McCue called to Mr. Anderson not to attempt to speak until we get a decision, adding, "a single word from him is a burning insult to every decent man."

After several minutes of excitement and much noise Chairman Gage restored order and announced that Senator Burlingame was the regular chairman and the hearing would proceed with other speakers pending his return when the committee would take a vote. Mr. Anderson was told not to attempt to speak in the meantime.

The hearing was more than half over when Senator Burlingame returned and the committee acted.

Robert G. Dawey, counsel for the Anti-Saloon league, speaking in rebuttal, attempted to discuss the committee's action but was told that he must confine his remarks to the legislation pending.

Applause, hisses and boos marked the entire session of more than three hours. Dry speakers were hissed repeatedly. Remarks by various speakers brought heated replies and the situation at all times was tense. The assembly chamber was packed, the largest number of people in attendance at any hearing this session being present. Supporters of the proposed legislation easily were identified by large white buttons bearing a picture of the statue of Liberty and the words "We Want Beer" inscribed on them.

Opponents of the measure included a score of W. C. T. U. and Anti-Saloon league representatives and clergymen, contended that passage of the bill would bring the state into open conflict with federal laws and that conditions now under prohibition were satisfactory and for the best interests of the people.

Speakers for the measure included Samuel Gompers, president of the American Federation of Labor, William S. Haskell, appearing for New York clubs, and many members of the State Federation of Labor.

DEALINGS ARE FEWER THAN IN MANY WEEKS

Prices Are Irregular and Bullish Enthusiasm Dampened by Call Money Advance

New York, March 29. — Trading in stocks today was lighter of volume and more restricted as to scope than in any session in several weeks. Apart from the further advance of a few specialties, obviously under pool control, prices were irregular throughout. Bullish enthusiasm was somewhat dampened by yesterday's unexpected advance of call money to 12 percent, although today's maximum was only 10 percent and that just before the close. Heaviness of foreign exchange was another deterrent, the London rate showing an extreme decline of about 16 cents from its recent high, while francs were lower and lire established an absolute new minimum at 20.55.

Representative industrials and rails rose and fell within contracted limits, insignificant changes ruling at the close, but motors, oils and the more mecurial specialties repeated in moderate measure their recent spectacular performances.

Stutz Motor at the new high at 370 scored a net gain of 41 points. General Motors rose to 377, an advance of seven points, just before the close; Crucible Steel held the better part of its 12 point gain at 262 and Cuban American sugar rose 15 points to 450 on a few transactions.

Several of the shippings, equipments, utilities and coppers and food issues were represented on the constructive side, but recent aggressive operations in these groups were lacking. Sales amounted to $35,000 shares.

There was a marked diminution of dealings in all classes of bonds including Liberty issues and Internationals. In the main the tone was irregular, rails as a whole easing from fractions to almost a point. Total sales par value were $9,500,000. Old U. S. bonds were unchanged on call.

FATHER DUFFY STILL A FIGHTER

Twenty-Seventh Division Chaplain Helps Sublime Maniac Who Wrecks His Rectory.

New York, March 29. — Rev. Francis G. Duffy, hero priest of the 27th division, did not leave war behind him when he left the trenches. He had it brought right into his own rectory to-night when he aided in subduing a man armed with a shovel, who suddenly ran amuck.

The visitor wrecked the ground floor rather successfully before Father Duffy chased him into the street. Then a pedestrian fired shots in the air to frighten the wrecker of rectories, but the only result was to disrupt a meeting of 1,000 of Father Duffy's parishioners, who came dashing into the street.

After a motor car driver had tried unsuccessfully to run down the fugitive, the latter drove his shovel through a saloon window before a policeman and a soldier hurried him to a sidewalk and sat on him until an ambulance surgeon arrived to administer a sedative.

What Young Men Want

The careful, critical attention to the details of clothes, which is characteristic of young men, is a good thing for the clothing business. It keeps all of us "up on our toes" to have the right thing. We have it—Hart, Schaffner and Marx know the right thing in style; they produce it; and they put all-wool fabrics and best tailoring back of it. They guarantee your satisfaction and ours, which is enough for you and for us.

These new style ideas are what you've been wanting.

What's the Use of Hot Cross Buns Tuesday and Friday?

Good Friday was the occasion that first inspired us to make Hot Cross Buns—

And such pride did we take in them that they developed into one of the most delicious of our "specialties."

With their fairy light, flaky "sweet dough," and sugar cross stamped on them in delicate icing.

Now the question is being raised by our customers. Why not give us these Buns every week?

They make Sunday breakfast a treat, Easter week or any week.

Please place your order early.

A WONDERFUL HELP

At Two Stages of Life Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound Made Mrs. Fairbairn Strong And Well.

Chattanooga, Tenn. — "I used Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound before my baby came when I could no longer keep up. It strengthened my back and relieved me of the dropsical effect which often developed at such times. It helped wonderfully. That was my first experience with the Vegetable Compound. Years afterwards I took it during the Change of Life and got along so well I scarcely ever had to lie down during the day and seldom had dizzy fainting spells. I am now well and strong, can do all my housework with perfect ease and it is a comfort to me to be able to say to other suffering women, 'Take strong.' I will be glad to have you use my name if it will be the means of helping any one." — Mrs. R. A. FAIRBURN, 606 Orchard Knob Avenue, Chattanooga, Tenn.

GEOGRAPHY OF THE AIR.

When transportation was confined in the main to travel by land, along the great valleys and over the mountains of earth, interest in geography mainly was confined to solid ground. Later came not mere coasting but adventurous journeys upon the great deeps, and with them a more careful consideration and study of the geography of the seas, their currents and their lanes of communication. Man, who now surveys the solid ground and the seas as sole means of communication, today is studying most of all not the geography of earth and sea, but aerography, which is science of air currents, their location, distance above the earth, prevailing direction, and in short practically everything which relates to the last-to-be-studied of the three divisions of earth—land, water and sky.

Referring to the air currents, their location, direction and economic and commercial importance, Major Schroeder, who lately established a new aviation altitude record and found trade winds of 200 miles an hour far above the clouds, says in a recent communication to the National Geographic society that we know little about the atmosphere.

We do, however, says Major Schroeder, know that there are well-marked areas, zones and levels in this inverted bowl, and rivers far surpassing any of earth in volume and speed, flowing vertically as well as horizontally. There are vast calm areas and stagnant pools; also choppy seas and regions of great turbulence. There are various layers of the air, he says, that must be explored and studied before airships can travel in safety. In flying, man uses only the lower strata, but above all clouds are far-reaching heights which must be explored by the sounding balloon of the aerographer.

The greatest discovery made in exploring the air is that it consists of two great layers. The lower extends to about 10,000 meters above sea level, and there is a steady fall of temperature with elevation. Above this there is no fall, and up to 20,000 meters slight rise. This is called the stratosphere. In these upper levels the speed of the wind greatly increases, and if the captain of the winged ship is not content with the speed which can be obtained lower, he has only to climb to the higher ones, where the flow of the air is from 50 to 40 meters a second, and where he would move along as above stated with a speed relative to the earth of 200 miles an hour.

According to this new geography, the upper air currents are far less subject to variations than the lower ones, but instead flow in given areas and in a practically uniform direction. Once the air currents—rivers if one pleases—are charted, it may be possible to travel therein with as much certainty as to direction, and with infinitely greater speed, than if one's boat were launched upon the fastest flowing rivers of the earth.

The above facts are at least interesting, and they hold out a suggestion as to what in the way of air travel may be accomplished when once we come to know as much about the atmosphere as we know about the land and sea which it encompasses.

VOTERS WHO CANNOT VOTE.

Many by Changing Residence Lose Right of Franchise Tuesday.

A great many enrolled voters will probably fail to vote at the primary election next week owing to the fact that by changing their places of residence on April 1 they will lose their right to vote, according to the opinion of one of the election officials.

Under the election law, the enrolled voters must have resided in the election district where they propose to vote for at least 30 days prior to primary day.

In discussing this point, it was stated by Election Commissioner Barnes, who was in Oneonta yesterday, that the intent of the election law was to prevent a person from voting in more than one election district, and to confine his voting to one political party. If a person enrolled last fall and later removed to another point in the same assembly district, he had an opportunity on or before March 6 to file a transfer entitling him to vote in the election district he moved to. The voter who moves on April 1 is not entitled to this privilege of transfer.

Native of Oneonta Dies.

Word has been received by Mrs. James Keyes of the death of her sister, Mrs. John Summers of St. Paul, Minn., on March 25th. For the past 25 years Mrs. Summers has been an invalid, being an extremely patient sufferer all this time, but has failed quite rapidly during the past year. Mrs. Summers was formerly Frances Montfort of Oneonta, where all her early life was spent. She will be well remembered by the older residents of Oneonta and Oneonta. Interment will be made March 31st in Oakland cemetery, St. Paul, Minn.

TO ATTEND CONFERENCE.

Improvement Association Will Send Manager Barlow to Syracuse Meeting.

The March meeting of the Executive Committee of the Otsego County Improvement Association was held at the Citizens' National bank on Monday. Those present were President Frank M. Smith, Messrs. E. W. Lee, George M. C. Hendrick, John A. Lowe, George H. Clippin, C. L. Stone, H. M. Brown and Floyd S. Barlow.

The first matter taken under consideration was that of getting the necessary authority to attend a two-day conference of county agents to be held in Syracuse some time during the month of April by the Syracuse College of Forestry. This conference is called for the purpose of establishing closer relationship with the agents of the state and the college. Mr. Barlow will take part in the program both days of the conference.

The County Junior Extension board at its last meeting voted to place a copy of the Farm Bureau News on every teacher's desk in the county. The committee voted to appropriate an additional amount of money for use of the board, sufficient in amount to purchase binders for the teachers that the copies of the News may be kept intact.

Upon motion of Mr. Elmore, it was voted that the manager take an active part as a member of the advertising committee of the County Association of Dairymen's League branches. At the last meeting of that organization, Mr. Barlow was appointed to act in such capacity with the president, J. D. Beardslee, and Messrs. R. H. Van-Scock and Morton Clark. An increased use of milk and its products should result from an advertising campaign.

The committee determined upon policies to be followed by the Farm Settlement department, a report of which appears elsewhere in this issue.

The committee voted to call a meeting of the board of directors to be held in Municipal hall at Oneonta on May 1st at 11 a. m.

COUNTY HAS ACCREDITED HERD.

Pure-Bred Guernseys of Corrie C. Moore of Oneonta.

Appropos to the recent article appearing in The Star about the movement among owners of dairy cattle to work into ownership of accredited herds and gain the advantages which accrue therefrom, it will be of interest to some few owners and breeders of fancy stock to learn that there is now one tuberculosis-free accredited herd in Otsego county—the herd of pure-bred Guernseys owned by Corrie C. Moore, proprietor of the well-known Moore Villa Guernsey farm at Oneonta.

The distinction of being the first breeder in this county to possess a duly accredited herd comes to Mr. Moore after an expenditure of effort, covering a period of more than two years, during which time his entire herd of Guernseys were under the close surveillance of inspectors of the New York State and U. S. Government Bureaus of Animal Industry.

The Moore Villa herd was given the final tuberculosis test on February 5 and 6 last by Dr. H. J. Hewitt, New York state veterinarian, and Dr. M. A. Evans, veterinary inspector of the Federal Bureau of Animal Industry, as an outcome of which the United States department of agriculture has awarded a Tuberculosis-Free Accredited Herd Certificate, No. 1522, to Mr. Moore, accompanied by a letter from the state department of farms and markets congratulating him upon the success of an undertaking which has as its laudable aim the ultimate eradication of preventable disease in the stock.

SPRING PLANTINGS TIMELY.

Persons Who Want to Beautify Home Grounds Should Order Early.

Those persons who are planning to beautify their home grounds this year are advised by the landscape gardeners to order shrubs for spring planting now. It is more to early to plan such a planting as is desired. Nursery catalogues should be obtained, and the literature studied, and a choice made of shrubs suitable for the location to be planted. This list should be sent to the chosen nursery as soon as possible in order that selection may be made before the stock in the nursery has been depleted.

It is also well to remember that the stock for spring delivery is usually dug in the fall and stored in cellars, through the winter consequently if orders are delayed until late in the spring, there is danger of a loss of stock in the shrubs.

Plant Early as Possible.

The earlier the shrubs are planted after the soil is in condition to be worked the better, as the spring rains will compact the soil around the roots of the plants and put them in better condition to start into growth.

In planting, the holes should be made larger than the roots of the plant to be set. A balance between the root and the upper growth of the plant should be maintained by pruning back enough of the upper growth to equal the root injury. If the soil is dry, it should be watered freely and a mulch of coarse manure applied.

It is announced that further information as to locations and desirable shrubs will be given by the landscape art department of the state college at Ithaca, N. Y.

GOES OVER THE DAM.

Floating Island in Goodyear Lake Swept by Flood of Saturday.

One section of the floating island in Goodyear lake which had, after circling about the lake for years, worked its way down against the dam, where it had been for months, was swept over the dam by the high water of Saturday afternoon last and is now safely disposed of, unless it should cause some trouble in blocking the channel below. The island has caused more or less trouble to the power company for years and some expense has been incurred in efforts to rid the lake of it. While doubtless imaginary, some have feared that it might result in damage to the dam, and doubtless such will rejoice that it is now safely below.

Why Measles May Be Dangerous

This is No. 3 of a series of advertisements, prepared by a competent physician, explaining how certain diseases which attack the air passages—such as Pneumonia, Influenza, Whooping Cough, Measles or even a long continued Cold—often leave their organs in an inflamed, congested state, thus affording a favorable foothold for invading germs. And how Vick's VapoRub may be of value in this condition.

Few of us escape measles—it is one of the commonest of childhood diseases. Every mother knows the symptoms, but the mistake that most mothers make is in failing to realize that the child is not fully recovered after the eruption and fever disappear. The air passages are still inflamed and if this inflammation is not cleared up, the air passages may be weakened, thus paving the way for pneumonia or serious disease of the lungs.

Nightly applications of Vick's VapoRub will aid nature in relieving this inflammation. Because Vick's acts locally by stimulation thru the skin to draw out the inflammation, attract the blood away from the congested area and relieve the cough. In addition, the medicinal ingredients of Vick's are vaporized by the body heat. These vapors are breathed in all night long, bringing the medication to bear directly upon the inflamed areas.

Children's digestions are delicate—easily disturbed by too much "dosing." Vick's, therefore, is particularly recommended since it is externally applied and so can be used often and freely without the slightest harmful effects.

Vicks should be rubbed in over the throat and chest until the skin is red—then spread on thickly and covered with hot flannel cloths. Leave the clothing loose around the neck and the bed clothes arranged in the form of a funnel so the vapors arising may be freely inhaled. If the cough is annoying, swallow a small bit of Vick's VapoRub.

FIFTIETH ANNIVERSARY.

Mr. and Mrs. M. E. Field Entertain Many Friends at Home in Hartwick.

Fifty years ago yesterday, Monroe H. Field and Miss Julia C. Field were married in Deposit. Since that time their residence has been continuously in Hartwick, though their large and greatly prized acquaintance is by no means confined to that immediate community. In memory of an event so auspicious and which has been followed by so many years of happy wedded life, Mr. and Mrs. Field celebrated yesterday their golden wedding anniversary in the presence of a goodly company of relatives and friends, all of whom joined in congratulations on this passage of the fiftyth milestone.

A reception was held at the home from 2 until 5 p. m. and in the evening there was a very delightful party with cards and other entertainment and delicious refreshments. Mr. and Mrs. Field were the recipients of numerous remembrances, including $75 in gold coin. The house decorations were in yellow and white, along with an abundance of cut flowers and potted plants presented, one of the most notable being a bouquet of fifty yellow roses from friends in Hartwick.

Among those in attendance, of whom 75 were present in the afternoon and about 60 in the evening, were Mr. and Mrs. Jesse L. Leal, Mrs. F. H. Breese and Mrs. H. C. Ryndes of Oneonta, and numerous friends from Cooperstown and Mt. Vernon. Mrs. Leal is a daughter of the couple, who yesterday were as married folk fifty years young.

The Lamb or the Lion?

The first day of March, as generally recalled, was pretty serious weather as regards temperature. The Oneonta official thermometer showing that the mercury stood at 2 below zero in the morning and that its highest mark was 28 above in the afternoon, though it is not recollected as being so very blistering. On the whole, though opinions may differ, the month may be said to have "come in like a lion," if that means weather pretty disagreeable, and if yesterday is indicative of the closing hours of the month, it is going out like a lamb. In view of the numerous times in which the old sayings have failed this may be put down to the credit side in the book of guesses; and so too may the six weeks following Candlemas which was a day of sunshine followed by storm and snow a-plenty.

P. S.—The above time was written at 2:27 p. m. Tuesday. The reader can amend, approve or abolish as circumstances this morning may indicate.

Look Out for the Dog Catcher.

The city clerk's office was kept busy all day yesterday, accommodating beleaguered dog owners who had failed to secure licenses. Today is the last day licenses can be had, and Oneontans possessing pet canines should apply at the Municipal building if they would save their pets from the dog-catcher, who will be invested with power to dispose of all stray animals.

The club has been invited to co-operate with the gentlemen who have the matter of placing a bronze tablet in memory of the soldiers of the Spanish-American and the World wars on the Soldiers' monument to the cemetery, and a committee was appointed, consisting of Mrs. Toombs, Mrs. Theyson, Mrs. Wild and Mrs. Bundy.

Solloway's Freshmen Defeated.

Accepting the challenge of Manager Solloway, of the O. H. S. freshman basketball team, the Comets last night defeated his quintet by a score of 25 to 11. The game was rather one-sided and the Comets had no difficulty in carrying off the honors. The two teams were lined up as follows:

Comets—Robinson, R. g.; Van Buren, R.; Pondolino, C.; A. Farone, R. f.; Tarbox, R. g.

Freshmen—Delaney, R. f.; Solloway, R. g.; DiLello, R.; Charles, R.; Currier, C.; Myers, R.; W. Palmer, R. g.

VanBuren starred for the Comets, shooting seven field baskets, while Delaney got the most points for the Freshmen. The Comets had it over the Freshmen in pass work and easily trimmed Manager Solloway's squad.

Following the game, Manager Robinson, of the Comets, issued a challenge to the Freshmen for a return game, which will probably be played off in the near future.

—R. L. Platt has taken a position with F. L. & S. E. Dibble at the Oneonta garage as bookkeeper and cashier.

—L. T. Ingram has removed from Lawn avenue to the residence so long occupied by the late W. O. Elmore at 40 Main street.

—Claude L. Smith has resigned his position with Arthur M. Butts and expects soon to engage in business for himself in some line that will keep him out of doors much of the time at least. He is now in Illion on a business trip.

—New maple sugar in limited quantities has made its appearance in the city stores, with the retail price for the small cakes which sell at 10 cents near to 50 cents a pound. The temptation to use a bit of granulated, even at present prices, will be greater than before.

—The Allied Trades ambulance is being given a needed coat of paint at the D. & H. shops and will not be in operation again for two or three weeks. Dibble's garage, however, will continue to answer emergency calls, as in the past, and has provided other motor vehicles for this purpose.

—Mark Brennan and Albert Coggins, the runaway boys caught Sunday night stealing a ride on a D. & H. freight train entering Oneonta, were held in the city jail yesterday, as transportation for their return to Carbondale, Pa., their home, had not yet reached the local police department.

—The announcement that the plant of the Elmore Milling company would go on daylight saving schedule, though forwarded to this office over the telephone by a party representing himself as speaking for the company, and from that office, proves to have been premature and that while the sentiment of the employees was correctly reported, that no change has been made, it being decided to await developments for a few days.

OUR COMMUNITY OBLIGATION

INTERESTING PAPER READ BEFORE TONIGHT.

Secretary Walter of Chamber of Commerce Discusses Debt Owed by Citizens to Town in Which They Live—General Illustrations and Local Instances—How to Make "The City Beautiful."

The last meeting of the Fortnightly club of Oneonta for the season of 1919-20 was held last evening at the home of A. B. Tobey on Chestnut street. There was a good attendance, and the paper, which was read by Secretary L. W. Walter of the Chamber of Commerce, was one of the most timely and generally interesting of the unusually fine series which the membership has during the past winter had the pleasure of listening to. Its theme was "Community Obligations," and as the title implies, it dealt with a subject with which the author has wide acquaintance.

In his introduction Mr. Walter briefly considered the debt which as citizens we owe to our community. The war being ended, everybody recognizes that we are standing on the threshold of a new order, and that the old one, with the old way of looking at things and the old way of doing business, has passed. The war taught what united effort can do. We have now to confront not in any sense a new problem, but one as old as civilization—the problem of how men can live together in groups successfully, with fairness, justice and equal opportunity to all.

What a citizen—who is a citizen in any true sense—really is may perhaps be the composite answer to a query sent a few years ago to leaders of thought in the United States, which was "A citizen is not really a citizen of a community unless he is serving that community." Not long ago the answer might have been different. One who made all the money he could, and paid his taxes, contented and few denied his contention, that he was a good citizen, and was doing all that could be expected of him. In contrast to this with the ancient Athenian oath and the oath which in early New England a citizen was required to take, that "I will give my voice and suffrage as I shall judge in my own conscience shall best conduce and tend to the public weal." To this earlier definition of good citizenship we have after a long and perhaps in some ways an unconscious lapse, again come.

When the spirit of these earlier covenants become the rule of conduct of today, spiritual and material progress will follow. We shall have cities where the people blend into one community life and each generation will vie with the past to transmit to the next, a city greater, better and more beautiful than the last. But to bring this to pass the people must be inspired to high ideals, since the community will not in this sense ever be higher than the ideals of the majority of its citizenship. Even in the order of material interests, the well-being of each generation is in a great degree dependent upon the forbearance, self-sacrifice and providence of those preceding, and civic virtues can never flourish in a generation which thinks only of itself.

Proceeding from the general to the particular, Mr. Walter instanced as among present community needs, better and more houses, closer relationship between employer and employee, better safety measures for health and morals, better schools, churches and libraries, proper food and the necessities of life, to promote especially the happiness and welfare of those who heretofore have had least opportunity for the pursuit of happiness and the fewest reasons for contentment. Locally, there should be more sympathetic interest in the social work of the Manufacturers' association, and of the Federation for Social Service. We must give the worker something besides work; our parks must be developed, and a swimming pool constructed. In the same connection, the early removal of the public library to its new home is suggested as affording relief for a situation which is pressing hard for a solution, since the present structure, under competent supervision, might well afford a social center for girls.

Another thing which applies to the individual, but which is also a civic duty, is the proper care of lawns and vacant lots, the elimination of unsightly poles and the destruction or improvement of ramshackle and unsightly buildings. These measures should be supplemented by positive steps in the form of public and private landscape gardening, a fine example of the former being the new Huntington park; the aesthetic treatment of bridges, uniform street signs, the planting of shrubs, flowers and grasses in public and private places, and many others, all these things being not only of spiritual and aesthetic value, but also commercially to a city which seeks and would welcome new industries. "Who is responsible," he said, "for Water Street? Every day that condition is allowed to remain it stands as an indictment against the entire city."

In conclusion, Mr. Walter said: "The new America has gone to other shores, torn down the shackles of autocracy and cried, 'We have realized our ideal; we are here now to help you realize your own dreams of self-determination, of democracy, and of freedom.' This new world outlook with its altruism and concern for humanity also implies a finer relation between our fellowmen at home. It exerts new conceptions and responsibilities in the direction of collective community effort and inspires broader consideration for the welfare of the many as against the interests of the few. In the light of this new spirit your mission and mine becomes loftier, nobler and holier. Let us dedicate ourselves anew to the task that is ours, realize its high purpose and thereby win for ourselves the proudest distinction for ourselves the proudest distinction."

GROCERY COMPANY EXPANDS

SEVERAL FAITHFUL EMPLOYEES ACQUIRE STOCK INTERESTS IN COMPANY.

Increase in Capital Stock to $250,000 with Stock Dividend of One Hundred Per Cent—Mr. Eggleston President.

The Oneonta Grocery company has recently increased its capital stock to $250,000 by a stock dividend of 100 per cent recently voted. This step followed the acquisition of the stock formerly held by Clinton Root of Wells Bridge, who has been interested in the company and has been its president since it was organized, by William F. Eggleston, who founded the business and who has been the directing head of the concern. Mr. Root being interested largely as an investor in the concern, Mr. Eggleston, who had been treasurer, succeeds Mr. Root as president, and Fred L. Larrabee becomes secretary and treasurer.

In effecting the change Mr. Eggleston has rewarded some of the long time and faithful employees of the company by taking them in as stockholders. Included in the number are Carl E. Steere, Charles H. Walling, Sherman J. Stone, Charles A. Hovey and Myron C. Frisbee, all of whom have been added to the directorate of the company. The action is well calculated to develop increased interest on the part of the gentlemen named, several being traveling salesmen of the company who have contributed to developing and holding the large volume of business the company enjoys.

The company has from its organization been successful and much credit is due Mr. Eggleston for the success of the enterprise and his recognition of the employees now taken as stockholders is gratifying to the patrons of the company as well as to the friends of the new stockholders.

NO OPPOSITION DEVELOPS.

Trolley Company Presents Its Request for Increased Fare in City.

No opposition developed at the hearing conducted at Albany yesterday by Commissioner Barthe of the Public Service commission, on the application of the Southern New York railway for consent to increase the fare within the city limits from 5 to 7 cents, in accordance with a notice previously given to the city. No announcement was made of the opinion formed by the commissioner, who will report to the full commission and the determination made by them. It is generally assumed, however, that it will be granted.

The company was represented by Attorney N. P. Willis of Cooperstown, General Freight and Passenger Agent Conkling of Richfield Springs, Auditor Skirving of Cooperstown, and Supt. George C. Killeen of this city. The statement filed with the commission was made a part of the hearing. Mr. Skirving was questioned by Commissioner Barthe relative to the financial condition of the company and the present income of the company. Aside from this, little additional testimony was taken.

The city was not represented at the hearing. Prior to the hearing, Mayor Cepherly, after a conference with the council, notified the company that no protest would be filed by the city administration, but that the city would expect improved and regular service with better cars and equipment on the Normal line. It is thought that it is better for the patrons to pay for good service and then have a right to expect it than to oppose the increase. No statement was made as to the time when the decision would be announced.

Mr. Walter's able paper was followed by a discussion, in which all joined, and in the course of which many things were suggested which would be for the general uplift of the community. Later, coffee and the usual delicious luncheon were served, and the last session of the Fortnightly for the season came regrettably to an end.

COAL PRICES MAY ADVANCE

Anthracite Miners Have Made Large Demands and No Reduction April 1 May Be Expected.

Retail coal dealers of Oneonta and Otsego county were in conference in Oneonta on Monday, with some 15 dealers present in addition to those from the city, discussing the prices likely to prevail after April 1. While heretofore there has usually been a reduction effective on that date, with more recently a 10 cent advance from month to month, it is stated by the D. & H. coal agents that no reduction need be expected and an advance in price is not unlikely, dependent upon the increase in wages granted the miners. Dealers as well as consumers have come to understand that any advance in wages will ultimately be made up by the consumers. The anthracite miners have demanded an even larger increase than the bituminous miners, and the price during the summer will depend upon the settlement made with the miners.

While D. & H. agents are now securing coal cheaper than those who represent the so-called independent coal operators, they are concerned about the allotment of coal from the company. If they are compelled to go out in the open market and purchase an additional amount from independent mine operators, it would doubtless be at an increased price. The agents discussed this phase of the problem in efforts to find a way not to increase prices above those for D. & H. coal.

It was also intimated by some that the shortage of cars in which to ship the commodity will also not unlikely affect the market price. In any event, the coal dealers are not prepared to accept orders for delivery during the summer, other than at the market price. It is probable that no reduction in price need be expected and that an increase will follow an adjustment of the miners' wages.

Easter Clothes

This is the most important clothes season of the year.

Your decision in the matter of wearing apparel is always important. So much depends upon it.

You do not buy a coat or suit every day. Whether your purchase is becoming and in good style, or not, you must wear it for a good many days. This year the high price of everything makes your selection doubly important.

Our garments are chosen for style, which gives you as much of an "at home" feeling on Fifth avenue as on Main street. They are chosen for material, which insures long and satisfactory wear. They are chosen for price, which guarantees that they are the best you can buy for the money.

In addition to these virtues, you and the garment are studied together when you are being fitted, and you may be sure the garment suits you and becomes you.

Tile Bathrooms

We are specialists in marble and tiling of all descriptions for interior floors and walls. Terrazzo and mosaic floors; our composition floors cost less than wood.

Installation made anywhere in New York or Pennsylvania. Estimates made upon first quality work only.

CHESTER R. MILLER WEDS.

Miss Harriet Morey of Fairport Bride of Young Oneonta Cartoonist.

In the presence of the immediate families and a few intimate friends, Chester Raymond Miller, only son of Mr. and Mrs. C. C. Miller of this city, and Miss Harriet VanBuren Morey, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph W. Morey of Fairport, this state, were married yesterday morning at 10:30 o'clock at the home of the bride's parents, by Rev. Mr. Taft of the First Baptist church of Fairport. There were no attendants. Following the ceremony, a wedding breakfast was served in the tastefully-decorated home, after which Mr. and Mrs. Miller left for Syracuse, where they will remain until tomorrow morning, when they come to Oneonta to visit at the home of Mr. Miller's parents on Irving place.

The groom, who has resided for practically his whole life in Oneonta, is a promising young man with a wide acquaintance here. He was a student in the city schools until about two years ago, when he left the Oneonta High school to take a course at Pratt Institute, Brooklyn. Even when a boy he exhibited a marked talent for art work, and for a year before he went to Pratt his cartoons were enjoyed by a large number of Oneontans, especially his fellow-students at O. H. S.

Mr. Miller, who is pursuing the general art course at Pratt and is specializing in newspaper and magazine illustrations, will finish his course there this spring and expects to graduate next June. His work has already found a ready market and all indications point to a successful career for the young man.

His bride was a student at Pratt last year and is a well-known and respected young lady of Fairport. She will be extended the hearty congratulations of the Oneonta friends of Mr. Miller, and all will join in wishing the young couple a happy wedded life.

C. C. Miller and his two daughters, the Misses Ellen and Sarah Miller, who attended the wedding, returned to Oneonta last evening. Mrs. Miller, who has been ill for some time past, unfortunately was unable to go to Fairport.

Life-Long and Respected Resident of Mt. Vision Passes Away.

Mr. Selkirk, March 28. — Selkirk Armstrong, a life-long and highly respected resident of Mt. Vision, passed away this morning at his home in the city.

Mr. Armstrong was born in Mt. Vision, in September, 1829, the son of Jonathan and Mary Armstrong. When 12 years old, he, with his people, moved to a farm about a mile and a half from the village. In 1845 he married Miss Rose Chase of Hartwick. A year after that they moved to his old home in the village. To Mr. and Mrs. Armstrong were born four children, two of whom died in infancy. A daughter, Mrs. Herman Harrison, residing near here, and a son, Charles Armstrong, working in Oneonta, with the widow mourn his death. He was a kind, helpful and fatherly man, and was doing what he could for their happiness and welfare. He was a hard and willing worker, full of good deeds for those whom he could help.

Besides the wife and three children, he is survived by one son, Miss Belle Weeks, and one nephew, Lloyd Weeks, both of New York city.

Stephen A. Loucks, an employee of McFee & Best, was arrested yesterday by Patrolman Smith as on a warrant charging him with non-support of his wife. HIGHWAY TO NEW YORK OPEN.

Jack Sitts Drives Buick Sedan Through from Metropolis Tuesday.

The Oneonta-Kingston state road, open for motor vehicle traffic, the route between Stamford and Grand Oneonta and over Lawrence hill, this day and Tuesday. The work lacked a little of completion on Monday and two hours or so with a good force of men finished the task yesterday. Jack Sitts, driving the Buick Sedan of J. H. Morris, drove through from New York Tuesday. He reports the road as fine all the way to Grand Oneonta and over Lawrence hill, this section of Grand Oneonta where the shovel work was done, are passable, though perhaps not in the best condition for a few days. Mr. Sitts left New York at 11 p. m. This was not a speed or endurance test, but a demonstration, as Mr. Sitts states it well of Buick efficiency. This completes the last of the state roads in this section.

The road from Stamford to Oneonta was opened prior, Mr. Buck of Harpersfield having come through that place yesterday with his Oneonta bus and reports no difficulty in making the Stamford hill.

ANDREWS WEARS 5 GOLD STRIPES

Sergeant One of Few Overseas
Men Entitled to Honor.

IS DECORATED FOR VALOR

Also Wins French Bride and Says This Was Harder Task Than Winning
Two Croix de Guerre and Other Battle Honors—Took Three Months of Hard Work Before He Could Take Bride to Church for Ceremony.

One of the few overseas men who is entitled to wear five gold service chevrons is Sergt. Charles E. Andrews, who returned to the United States on January 24, 1920, after spending thirty-one months and seven days in France and Germany. He is now on duty at the recruiting station in Chicago, says the Fort Sheridan Recall.

Besides five gold service stripes he brought with him one wound stripe, a victory badge decorated with five bronze battle stars and two silver ones for divisional citations, two croix de guerre, a French fourragere and what was even harder to win, according to his statements—a French bride.

"If I had it all to do over again," said Sergeant Andrews, "I'd bring my bride to America to marry her. Because it took three months of hard work before I could take her to the church, even after she had said 'Yes.'"

A Matter of State.
"In the first place, an American who married a French girl had to see the American, the Belgian and French consuls. He had to make several calls at the chamber of deputies—but I've forgotten what the calls were for now.
The wedding had to be advertised in the city hall eight days before the wedding. And before the license was granted he had to visit about every public building in Paris, interviewing city officials. I'm strong for the good old country where the work is all done after the girl is won."

Sergeant Andrews was lucky enough to find a French girl who can really speak English well.

"You see, she used to teach it in the public schools," he said. "I went into a souvenir shop in Paris one day where she happened to be clerking, and got talking to her there. She helped me pick out some souvenirs, and I—well, I sure needed some help, for I wasn't thinking much about what I was buying after I once saw her!"

Sergeant Andrews is a First division man, and was attached to the Second field signal battalion. He took part in the offensive at Cantigny, Soissons, St. Mihiel, the Argonne and the second battle of the Marne.

Armistice Day Scrappy.
"The hardest fighting I saw during the whole war was on the morning of November 11," he said. "Back in the sector where I was at the time, we did not know a thing about the armistice until two minutes of eleven, and we'd been firing just as fast as the old guns would go off all morning."

"About five minutes of eleven a French radio operator came running out of a dug-out to tell us that at eleven o'clock all firing would cease, but we laughed at him. But just two minutes before eleven we were officially notified to stop firing, and we believed it to be true for the first time."

"And when the firing did stop, what do you think happened? You would expect a lot of rejoicing, wouldn't you?
Well, there wasn't. Everybody just dropped down where they were standing and went to sleep. All the celebrating took place had to wait until we had some sleep to work up pep to celebrate with. We had all gone just about as far as we could without sleep, and even the news of an armistice couldn't seem to get through our heads, for all we realized was that we could stop firing. That was down around Sedan, where the firing had been continuous for many hours."

About the two individual croix de guerre, Sergeant Andrews had little to say.

"I don't know what they are for," he said, just as every Yank who was ever decorated says when he is asked about his citations. "They both read about the same—something about maintaining communication in advance in the face of a deadly fire—you know the stock phrases they use in citations."

ICE IMPRISONS 300 "GOBS"

Jam in the St. Lawrence May Not Be Broken Before June.

Three hundred American "gobs" and thirty officers are held prisoners at Quebec—not in the citadel, but in the middle of the St. Lawrence river, surrounded by ice.

The sailors were on board eight Essex boats and a Detroit tug and were caught in an ice jam. Now they can move only 32 feet a day—16 feet up the river with the ice when the tide comes in and 16 feet down when the tide goes out again. Ice three feet thick goes with them on each trip, but there is little probability the men will be released before June.

Superior, Wis.—Enough pea coal to make those who might salvage it wealthy lies buried in the sands on the bottom of Portage bay, according to a dispatch from Houston, Mich. Employees of a Houston fuel company recently dropped a large clam shell to the lake bottom and the contents of the clam shell was found to be three-fourths pea coal and the remainder sand. Some years ago pea coal was not considered valuable for fuel, and it was dumped into the lake at this point to make room for larger and more valuable coal. No estimate of the amount of coal on the lake bottom can be obtained, but its value is said to mount into the millions.

For Colds, Catarrh or Influenza

Do you feel weak and unequal to the work ahead of you? Do you still cough a little, or does your nose bother you?
Are you pale? Is your blood thin and watery? Better put your body into shape. Build strong!

An old, reliable blood-maker and herbal tonic made from wild roots and barks, is Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery. This nature remedy comes in tablet or liquid form. It will build up your body and protect you from disease germs which lurk everywhere. One of the active ingredients of this tonic is the powerful and tonic is wild cherry bark with sassafras, which is so good for the lungs and for coughs;
also Oregon grape root, blood root, stone root, Queen's root—all skillfully combined in the Medical Discovery.
These roots have a direct action on the stomach, improving digestion and assimilation. These herbal extracts in the "Discovery" aid in blood-making and are best for scrofula. By improving the blood they fortify the body against an attack of grip or colds.

Catarrh should be treated, first, as a blood disease, with this tonic. Then, in addition, the nose should be washed daily with Dr. Sage's Catarrh Remedy.

covery Tablets or Catarrh Tablets to Dr.

GRIM END OF PERFECT DREAM

Living Conditions in Russia Portured in Dismal Colors by Prof. Zeidler.

DISEASE TAKES HEAVY TOLL

Typhus, Cholera and Influenza Are Rapidly Depleting the Population—Cold, Hunger and Despair Are Lot of the Living.

Helsingfors.—Reports of serious living conditions at Petrograd have been received by Prof. Hermann Zeidler of Viborg, showing that typhus, cholera and influenza are taking a heavy toll of the depleted population.

Up to January 15 deaths in Petrograd were reaching a total of 3,000 a day. The coffin factories could turn out only 1,000 coffins daily, and most of the bodies were being carried into the country on sleds and left in the snow.

Many bodies were being dropped through the ice in the River Neva. Burials were prohibited owing to the scarcity of horses and because of the depressing effect of funeral processions.

Stagnant Broken Sewers.

"Living conditions are intolerable," Professor Zeidler said. "It costs 30,000 Lening rubles a day for food alone. Petrograd at night is without light and there is very little drinking water. Homes are flooded by the bursting of frozen pipes. The sewers are stopped and sanitary conditions are deplorable."

"A month ago the number of typhus cases was 300 a day and steadily increasing. Hospital conditions are indescribably bad. There is no bed linen, no medicines, no soap and no disinfectants, the last of the supply of disinfectant having given out January 2, when 85 disinfecting stations were closed."

"The people have given up hope and they do not wish to live. They make grim jokes among themselves as to how much longer they will hold out."

Rich Still Rich; Poor, Poor.

Conditions among the soviet peasantry, cost of living and scenes at Moscow and the other soviet centers are given by the staff correspondent of the Amsterdam Handelsblad, G. Nypels, just back from an extended tour through soviet Russia.

"At the railway station in Smolensk," the correspondent writes, "there is a long row of stalls in which people sit behind little barred windows and sell all sorts of merchandise."

"I noticed the prices. One pound of salted meat was 320 rubles; a pound of black bread, 100 rubles; a little piece of potato cake, 40 rubles. A little water glass full of makhorka (tobacco root) was 100 rubles."

"On the station platform one sees the soldiers lying about amidst the dirt which covers the ground. They roll their cigarettes with bits of paper torn from newspapers and wait patiently for what will happen next."

"By the side of a big cash register stands a narmald selling salted meat, cake and pastry to the smartly dressed men gathered about her. The poor devils lying on the ground do not even notice it, for they know very well that in the new state there are rich men and poor men just as before."

BRITISH TO STAY IN TURKEY

Government Cancels Decision to Withdraw Troops After Non-Moslem Massacres.

Constantinople.—Decision to withdraw British troops from Batum has been cancelled, according to information received here.

Circulars urging that attacks on non-Moslem people be prevented have been sent to the provincial authorities by the Ottoman minister of the interior. He bases his appeal on the ground that such attacks prejudice the good disposition of the powers toward Turkey.

The circular is a result of a warning from the British high commissioners who declared that failure of the Turks to accord non-Moslem elements adequate protection would lead to a modification of the supreme council's most recent decision regarding Constantinople which would be less favorable to the Turks.

Indomitable Cheerfulness.

That a man can remain cheerful though imprisoned for a crime he did not commit is proved by some of the letters that Mr. O. Henry wrote to his little girl while he was serving his latest sentence. They are quoted in the Boston Globe.

"Hello, Margaret!" says one playful missive. "Don't you remember me? My name is Alderontiphosphorakobokus. If you see a star shoot and say my name 17 times before it goes out you will find a diamond ring in the track of the first blue cow's foot you see go down the road in a snowstorm while the red roses are blooming on the tomato vines. Good-by! I've got to take a ride on a grasshopper."

Again he wrote: "I hope your watch runs all right. When you write again be sure to look at it and tell me what time it is, so I won't have to get up and look at the clock." And in another note: "Be careful when you are on the street not to feed snakes or strange dogs or put snakes on the head or shake hands with cats you haven't seen introduced to or stroke the noses of electric car horses."

Mint Established Record.

The Philadelphia mint shattered volume records in 1919. Domestic output totaled 500,915,000 pieces, as compared with 367,345,000 in 1918. Output for foreign countries amounted to 20,229,195 pieces, compared with 24,400,000 in 1918.

OLD TAVERNS ARE PASSING

Destruction of One at West Gorham, Me., Brings to Mind the Old Coaching Days.

Abandoned, dilapidated and rapidly falling into decay, Clement's hotel at West Gorham has been razed and the valuable lumber carried off by the purchaser, Arthur Richardson, to Gorham. No more will the weather-beaten gray structure, its windows rattling in the wind and with much glass missing, two of its great pillars leaning against the front wall and the two remaining but partially supporting the sagging porch, be a familiar object to residents accustomed to travel the road frequently on a structure to arouse more than ordinary curiosity in the stranger tourist. Its hospitable interior was appreciated by the traveling public nearly 100 years, and it withstood the ravages of time and the elements more than 100 years. Wreckers found its timbers solid, wide boards of pumpkin pine, sound and dry as a nut, and the interior finish of a quality difficult to duplicate in these later days. It was a grand old-time hotel, the sort that is not often found intact in Maine, and the interior of that house was unchanged the last fifty-odd years it stood. There was another hotel at the corner, long since destroyed by fire; three prospered at one time at Standish Corner, one now used by transients and one still standing is a private residence. The Chadbourne house, which was on another stage route at the foot of Sebago lake, burned late last fall. Here and there in the back towns may be seen a rambling structure, spacious, old and gray, that was a hotel before the railroad ended the stage-coach method of locomotion. They are few, and yearly one by one they fall, are burned or torn down. Clement's hotel at West Gorham is a sample. It will be missed because it was a strong connecting link between the past and the present, so rapidly diverging in form and tradition.—Lewiston Journal.

Airplane Muffler. Like all healthy youngsters, the airplane is a noisy affair. Propeller and engine unite to produce a roar that always makes conversation difficult, and, in time of war, supplies to a keener enemy a sure warning of impending danger. Designers are seeking to mitigate the evil, and so far, though unable to deaden the "whirr" of the propeller, have produced numerous featherweight mufflers to silence the engine exhaust. The attachment has now passed the experimental stage, says the Popular Mechanics Magazine, in an illustrated article, showing a French war airplane equipped with a standard muffler.

It Pays to Advertise. It pays to advertise. That is what Adolph A. Unger, a silk manufacturer of New York thinks. When crackmen visited his office they found this sign on the safe: "Books only. Don't waste your energy." The visitors followed instructions.

Devon People Believe Sight of Spanish Flag on British Ship Angered Admiral Drake.

Anyone who knows the villages of the west of England will be aware that they are a fertile soil for all manner of superstitious beliefs. And the process of creating new legends has evidently not yet come to an end. If we may accept a statement made at a recent women's institute meeting at Exeter, at which various speakers recounted the traditions of their respective localities. A few years ago the battle ship Montague was wrecked on Lundy island as she was entering the Bristol channel in a fog. The people of the neighborhood, we are told, have no doubt that she was lured to her doom by the spirit of Sir Francis Drake. She happened to be flying the Spanish flag in honor of the marriage of King Alphonso and Princess Ena. This the proud ghost of Devon's great seaman could not brook, and he made her pay the penalty by running her upon the rocks.—Manchester Guardian.

Two Aged Local Women Pass Away—

Former Delhians Wed Last Thursday.

Delhi, March 30 — Margaret Aikens, wife of William Aikens, died at her home on Franklin street last Thursday, after a long and painful illness. Mrs. Aikens was 85 years of age and was born in Ireland, the daughter of John McGuinness and Mary Graham. She leaves her aged husband and one daughter, Mrs. Herbert Brown, of this village. The funeral was held Saturday from the First Presbyterian Church, Dr. James H. Robinson officiating.

Births.

Born, March 26, to Mr. and Mrs. Earl J. Ackerly, a son, Arthur John Ackerly.

Born, March 17, to Mr. and Mrs. Leland Liddle, a son, Clifford Leland, at their home below Delhi Village.

Aged Colored Woman Dies.

Mrs. Matilda Dewitt, a respected colored woman, died at the home of Mrs. Arnold on Meredith street Sunday afternoon. Mrs. Dewitt is supposed to be at least 100 years old and up until a few years ago had made her home in a one-room cottage on Upper Meredith street. As old age crept on, she was taken to the home of Mrs. Arnold, where she had been tenderly cared for. Her husband was a soldier in a colored regiment during the Civil war. The funeral was held this afternoon, Rev. H. H. Young conducting the service, with burial in Woodland cemetery.

Former Delhians Wed.

Mr. and Mrs. Robert Salton were in town today, calling on old time friends. Mr. Salton on old time friends. Mr. Salton was recently married in New Jersey, the bride being Ruth Ware, a daughter of the late T. M. Ware, who for a number of years was farm superintendent at the Meridale farms in Meridale. Both Mr. and Mrs. Salton attended Delaware academy and have many friends who wish them much joy and happiness. They will make their home in Magdalena, New Mexico.

Westminster Guild Meets.

The Westminster guild of the Second Presbyterian church held a delightful meeting at the home of Miss Pauline Farrington on Monday evening. Nearly 25 young ladies were present and listened to an intensely interesting program prepared by Miss Farrington on the subject of "India." A wonderfully entertaining feature of the meeting was an article written by Mr. C. H. Woods of Delhi, and a book of photographs taken in India by him. There for a number of years he was a federal missionary. Refreshments were served and all decided that it had been an evening well spent.

Box Social Enjoyed.

The Queen Esther circle and Epworth league held a box social in the parlors of the Methodist church on Monday evening. The young ladies brought boxes of lunch for two and the boxes were auctioneered by William J. Carpenter, the boys in turn purchasing them. Nearly 50 people were present and $29 was realized.

Many Bodies in Vault.

The vault in Woodland cemetery now contains 29 bodies awaiting burial.

AT NORTH KORTRIGHT.

Who Says the Snow Is Gone?—Dairies Not Increasing.

North Kortright, March 30. — Though the snow has wasted to a considerable extent, it is still very deep in places—for instance in E. L. Groff's sugar-bush. Mr. Groff owns a small farm between here and Kortright, and started out one day last week to find it. The buildings and sugar-bush stand in a hollow that catches the snow, blown from the hill above. He succeeded in locating the house and barn, but thinks the snow in places was fully ten feet deep.

Liberal Contribution Desired.

A collection for the various boards of the church will be taken here on next Sabbath, April 4. The pastor hopes that the offerings will be as liberal as possible, in order to meet the deficit. Any who are unable to be present and who wish to have a share in this work may give or send their offerings to F. F. Vandusen, treasurer of the session.

Fifth Appointment.

It is a fine tribute to the faithfulness and efficiency of J. S. Mawhinney, who for the past four years has served as state road patrolman, that he has received the appointment for this season also.

Headed for Home.

Report says that Mr. and Mrs. Henry Uter and child of Kortright, who have spent the past winter in Florida, have started on the homeward trip in their touring car.

Dare Not Operate.

Many will be interested to know that the specialists at Mayo hospital, Rochester, Minn., who examined Rev. Charles E. Newcomb said that it would be too dangerous to attempt an operation for stones in the kidneys, and that aside from that trouble he is in good condition. He has therefore returned to his work as pastor of a church in Tulsa, Okla., and will take a course of home treatments calculated to relieve his affliction.

Stock Sale Stopped.

The continued high prices of grain and hay, together with the reduction in the price of milk, makes the farmers shy about increasing their dairies. At W. W. Jackson's sale of stock last week, after two cows had been sold for probably less than the cost of wintering, the sale was stopped.

A Suggestion to Auto Owners.

If you left your battery on the car all winter, or even stored it in the cellar, it should have a freshening charge before it is called upon to do the work of starting the motor. No matter if it was in the best of condition when put away, it still needs attention, for an idle battery deteriorates. We suggest that you have your battery inspected in order that it will be on the job when you need it. We are prepared to render you this service. Will call for and deliver your battery, Oneonta Battery and Tire company, 1 Hamilton avenue. Use the phone—889. advt. 17
